

Online Masterclass: Clinical Ethics in Palliative Care

This Post Graduate level Masterclass is aimed at clinicians who wish to enhance their understanding of ethics and clinical practice from a palliative care perspective.

You will:

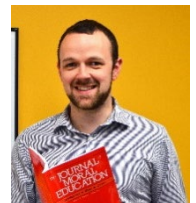

- reflect on the ethical contexts that underpin clinical care
- discern the key ethical principles that support clinical decision-making
- discuss the ethical aspects of the professional health practitioners' role in clinical practice

Our presenter are Adjunct Professor Dr Dan Fleming and Dr Rowan Hearn

Dr Hearn is the Clinical Director Palliative Medicine at Calvary Health Care Bethlehem (CHCB). Prior to working at CHCB Dr Hearn spent 15 years working in the National Health Service (NHS) in London, during which time he completed a Masters in Medical Ethics and Law and was lead for clinical governance for his service

Dr Fleming is the Group Manager Ethics and Formation St Vincent's Health Australia, an Adjunct Professor at the School of Medicine The University of Notre Dame Australia and Associate Member of the Law, Health and Justice Research Centre with University of Technology Sydney.
